Fear 23 Dead in Crash Of Airliner in Alps

PARIS, (CP)—All 18 passengers and five crew members of the Air France Dakota which crashed in the Alps near the village of Moestier de Clermont, about 30 miles south of Grenoble, were reported "apparently dead" by the search party which located the plane in a deep ravine Saturday.

But for a last-minute change of plans, American Film Stars Robert Taylor and his wife Barbara Stanwyck, now visiting Europe, would have been on the plane which took off from Nice Friday.

Members of a search party said the plane was at the bottom of a deep ravine at an altitude of 3,900 feet on the northern edge of the massive Vercors mountains. The were unable to approach the wreck but failed to see any signs of life.

One of the engines seemed to have crashed through the cabin.

The company said most of the passengers were French, with a Dutch and a Swedish married couple among them. The crew members were French.

Says 'Mental' Accommodation Ranks Third All Canada

Alberta stands in third place in all of Canada in its provision for mental patients, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and public welfare, told the legislature Friday night.

The minister made an impassioned plea to the assembly that the "true facts" about Alberta's mental institutions be given to the public when denying statements made earlier this session by W. J. Williams, Edmonton member, about the institutions.

Dr. Cross said he believed he had proven in his address "beyond a shadow of a doubt" that statements made were not true. "I am sure the people of this province with friends in our institutions would be greatly relieved" to know the true facts, the minister declared.

Dr. Cross gave the house reports of the federal bureau of statistics backing his assertion that Alberta was third only to Ontario in bed deficiency in its mental institutions. The comparison showed Alberta's figure at 7.55 compared to Ontario's 5.73. Those for other provinces were: B.C., 6.17; Saskatchewan, 39.93; Manitoba, 17.26; Quebec, 7.34 and New Brunswick, 8.87.

Bed Increase 41%
"This report goes on to show that since 1935 to the end of 1944, Alberta increased its bed capacity for mental patients by 41 percent," the minister said. "The next highest increase was New Brunswick with 27 percent."

"We have built a new building almost every year since 1935 and we intend to keep on building so long as the number of patients continue to increase. We have provided building for an additional 940 beds since 1935. The increase in patients since that time was

Reveal Russia Still Holds 890,532 German Prisoners

MOSCOW, (AP)—A clash between U.S. State Secretary Marshall and Russian Foreign Minister Molotov appeared Friday to be building up in the Big Four foreign ministers' council over basic principles of the United States and Russian versions of "democracy."

Marshall hurled a challenge at the Soviet Union Friday by laying down a five-point program he said the United States deemed fundamental if the new Germany was to be democratic.

He asked individual rights guarantees, free political parties, free autonomous trade unions, a free press and radio and "uniform movement of persons and goods" throughout Germany.

Molotov called Marshall's remarks "highly subjective" and said the Soviet Union had no intention of not mean freedom of Nazi propaganda.

The first Soviet figures on German prisoners of war were made available in a Tass dispatch which said Russia had 890,532 Germans in Soviet territory. It said 1,065,974 had been sent back to Germany.

Earlier prisoner figures, for other Big Four members, were: United States—holding 15,103 prisoners, mostly in Italy; rapidly discharging another 15,873 in Germany. Britain—

Floods Cut Off London's Water

LONDON, (CP)—Ironically, while thousands of millions of gallons of water poured over the English countryside from torrential flood swollen rivers, 1,000,000 people in London's east went short of water Friday.

Floods surged over the filter beds of the Lea Bridge works of the metropolitan water board, putting most of the plant out of action.

The Thames conservancy board was receiving hundreds of telephone calls from Thames valley residents asking whether they should evacuate their homes. Others wanted boats to take them to safety.

Rising floods threatened to cut England in two for the second time this winter. As the snow which earlier blocked all roads between the north and south melted, rivers burst their banks, railway lines collapsed and roads lay three or four feet deep under icy water.

At Pusley park estate near Reading, Berkshire, a large number of Riverside bungalow dwellers escaped in small boats as floods invaded their homes. A.T.C.B. official at Reading said "the river is out of control. We cannot do anything now."

The Weather

Forecast: Clear today, becoming overcast with snowflurries Sunday evening, light winds, little change in temperature.

Estimated low tonight, 28 above.

Estimated high tomorrow, 48 above.

At Edmonton Sunday, sun rises 6:49; sets 5:38; Monday sun rises 6:46; sets 6:40.

Yesterday's maximum, 35 above.

Overnight low, 23 above.

Rainfall, .05 of an inch.

In Spring The Cameraman Turns Slightly Fancy

There's nothing seriously amiss in the above pictures. It's just that spring often produces these weird effects in people and things. Bright sunlight and rising temperatures flooded Edmonton streets Friday and The Journal's cameraman snapped the two pictures above as typical of springlike conditions during the day. That shot is not a mistake. The cameraman was looking where he was going and what he saw is just the reflection of a row of houses in a big ground puddle. The lower picture shows a motorist plunging through another big puddle with the cameraman unable to avoid a splash. Just as hundreds of other pedestrians were splashed Friday. More of the same seemed in prospect Saturday as mild weather continued. —Photograph by W. Kean

Coal Supply Low, Ship Burns Wheat

AVONMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters)—Fifty tons of her wheat cargo were burned in the boilers when the 5,977-ton British steamship Stanloga, smashed from stem to stern by mountainous seas, ran short of coal in mid-Atlantic. It was disclosed Friday.

The Stanloga limped into port Friday after a stormy nine-day crossing from Saint John N.B., during which 50-foot waves buckled her plating, loosened rivets, smashed lifeboats, wrecked the galley, put steering gear out of action and swamped crew accommodations.

'Death Race' Won By Tiny Trawler

GRIMSBY, Eng. (Reuters)—A life and death race with a blazing ship bearing her helpless crew at full speed through the night was won by the tiny trawler Talpo after a three-hour fight through gale and blizzard in the wake of the flames.

Four badly burned men leaped aboard the Talpo as its skipper, Alex Patterson, pulled alongside. They had left behind them the captain and three shipmates who perished in the inferno that was the British coastal steamship Jonquil.

The fire, which had roared up suddenly, cut the crew off from the engine room, the hold and the radio. The steering gear locked and the engines remained set at full speed ahead.

The ship's cook, Dennis Northmore, told how he and three others huddled in the bow to escape the flames. Somebody shouted, "a ship!" It was the Talpo. Patterson had it was the Talpo. Patterson had spotted the glow and given chase.

He recounted the story of his operations as a bogus member of a narcotic gang, a year-long association in Vancouver, and visits to the United States and Mexico to collect evidence.

Van Treef said Rossi had told him of paid killers, known to the underworld as "heavies," searching here for Elliott who was "hiding out."

Plan Extension to May 15 Of Rent, Commodity Controls

OTTAWA, (CP)—The government plans to take action next Tuesday to see that rent and commodity price controls do not expire automatically March 29.

Justice Minister Isley told the commons Friday that he will ask parliament to extend until May 15 the emergency legislation under which the controls now are enforced. Ordinarily the controls automatically would expire March 29, unless new legislation is passed to replace emergency acts.

While Mr. Isley did not say so in the commons, it was learned authoritatively that the leaders of the opposition parties have agreed to extension of the emergency legislation.

The justice minister said it was evident that parliament could not pass all the legislation extending the controls before March 29. If the controls were allowed to expire there would be "chaos" in the country.

He indicated that if all the control legislation is not through by May 15, a further extension may be asked. Parliament adjourns for an Easter recess from April 2 to 14.

There have been recurring reports that before or after the price control legislation is passed the government will announce an increase in the rentals of private homes. The original reports were to the effect that the announcement would come prior to May 1, but so far official circles have been silent.

On the basis of unofficial reports, household rentals would be increased by 10 percent. If a tenant declined to sign a two-year lease at the increased rate he would be subject to eviction in three months.

This means that the day may come when the letters "CS" (Canada Standard) will be guaranteed that the article so marked conforms to a definite standard established by the government.

It will mean a guarantee as to quality, size and quantity; a guarantee as to genuineness of the material, food, product, or other article so stamped.

It is not the intention to compete with standards which have been set up by existing agencies, such as the Canadian Standards association.

Although such types of services have been performed in Canada in some food lines by the consumer services of the department of agriculture, not such measures have been taken for textiles and clothing.

Ex-Communist Charges Secret Agents Active

OTTAWA, (CP)—In a blow-off on Canadian Communism second only to the espionage inquiry, J. A. Sullivan, top-ranking Canadian labor leader and a member of inner Red councils, Saturday disclosed the machinery of the Moscow party in his Canadian Seamen's Union as he left Communism and his high offices in labor. He resigned as president of the Canadian Seamen's Union and as secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. He declared many secret Communist agents are active in Canada.

Declaring the C.S.U. was "under full control of the Communist party," Sullivan outlined what he said was the machinery of the party in that organization and said "the same apparatus is in existence in quite a large number of unions throughout the country."

His statement was distributed to newspapermen at the desk of an Ottawa hotel Saturday when he did not appear for a scheduled 8:00 a.m. conference at which he was to have enlarged on his announcement of Friday night that he had left the party and the top job in the C.S.U.

A confession of Sullivan's tie-up with the Red party, the document named 18 persons Sullivan said were making the statement public "for my own protection."

"I know that if I just tender my resignation with my reasons for resigning to the Canadian Seamen's Union, an unavoidable accident might occur to myself," he declared, "as throughout the country there are so many Communist party people that one does not know whom to trust."

Giving examples of what he said was Communist infiltration into different organizations, Sullivan said the policemen's strike in Montreal a few years ago was "secretly financed by the Communist party."

"That party furnished $9,000 to carry on the policemen's strike," he declared.

Citing another example, he said: "A certain trade union leader in Montreal phoned Vancouver to a seamen's organizer concerning bringing in another organization from the States. Within a week I received copies of the telephone conversation; both the question and replies were in my hands from Fred Rose (former Labor-Progressive party member of the commons for Montreal Carlier now serving a six-year term on an espionage charge)."

"The seamen's leader in Vancouver then telephoned his international in San Francisco on two consecutive days. Within a week or 10 days, a verbatim report of both these calls was in my hands and were given to me by Sam Carr (former Labor-Progressive party candidate in the Carlier riding in Montreal where a by-election is being held March 31 to fill Rose's vacated commons seat)."

"At least 35 members of the C.S.U. have been ordered into the country," the statement declared. "They are doing the work they are told to do by the Communist party directors. They are paid by the C.S.U."

"It certainly is not in the interests of the union or of seamen to have anything to do with the Communist party."

Tells Reasons For Quitting Reds

OTTAWA—With impressive simplicity, J. A. Sullivan, resigned head of the Canadian Seamen's Union, told Saturday why he had decided to quit the Communist party.

Mr. Sullivan prefaced a long press statement with these remarks: "In January of this year, I had an opportunity of being present at a colorful service held in Ottawa, namely, the national ceremony for Canadian Citizenship Week. As I sat and watched the various new Canadians receiving their citizenship papers, it made me realize what a wonderful country we had here in Canada and it also made me realize that this country could never be maintained unless we had unity of all the citizens in it, with, but a few exceptions of creeds, but a people all working toward one goal, namely, to destroy want in this country, instead of a few who utilize want and suffering for their own ends. With this in mind, I decided to write this document hoping, in some small way, to endeavor to bring that about."

Speaker Threatens to Oust Heckler From Legislature

Prayed tempers brought the worst flare-up at the present session of the legislature Friday night and at one point in the dispute, Hon. Peter Dawson, Speaker of the assembly, threatened to have W. J. Williams, Edmonton member, removed from the floor of the assembly.

The ruckus started almost at the outset of a speech by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and public welfare, in which he fervently denied statements regarding the province's mental institutions made earlier in the session by Dr. Cross Williams. At no time did Dr. Cross actually name Mr. Williams.

Mr. Williams started a prolonged barrage of interruptions during Dr. Cross' address. He continually jumped to his feet, demanded Dr. Cross cross him as the man who had made the statements and repeatedly shouted comments across the floor of the assembly as the minister doggedly kept on with his address.

Shouts from Floor
Government members shouted for the Speaker to "name" Mr. Williams. Some demanded that he be thrown out. Others were content with shouting back at him to keep quiet.

In a final effort to quiet Mr. Williams, the Speaker declared: "It would give me great pain to name you."

"(Naming) of a member by the Speaker means the member must leave the floor of the house, forcibly ejected if necessary."

Later the Speaker had to ask Mr. Williams to extend to Dr. Cross the courtesy of listening to the address quietly. Although this subdued the member, he could be heard muttering retorts every now and then throughout the remainder of the minister's speech.

Raps Bill of Rights
Mr. Williams spoke to the assembly on the budget debate just prior to Dr. Cross but the remarks made by him about mental institutions were said during the throne speech debate.

In his speech Friday night, Mr. Williams dealt mainly with education in the province, demanding higher salaries for teachers. Mr. Williams' main remark about mental institutions Friday night was that the province should take $1,000,000 out of its post-war reconstruction fund for building improvements and increased staff.

Bill of Rights, declared Mr. Williams, was only a shot of political penicillin for Social Credit supporters. He added the government had not put Social Credit theories in the province and had "gone Tory."

Robbery, Violence Send 2 to Prison
Convicted of robbery with violence by "overwhelming evidence," Adeline Graham and Olaf Peterson in supreme court Saturday were sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary and five years in Prince Albert, respectively, by Mr. Justice McBride.

Peterson and the woman were passengers in the truck of Henry DeWald, Evansburg lumberman, Jan. 7 when he was robbed of $450 and slugged unconscious in North Edmonton.

In handing down sentence, Mr. Justice McBride said robbery with violence was becoming too prevalent and persons appearing before him in future on such charges would be dealt with severely. Lashes in addition to penitentiary terms would be imposed.

Adeline Graham admitted taking the money from the complainant's pocket while Peterson "hit him three or four times." She claimed the fight was over her, and Defence Counsel W. G. K. McKinnon contended there was no robbery with violence.

Mr. Justice McBride termed the woman's story a "tissue of lies designed to try and shield the man." He congratulated police for prompt action in apprehending the two criminals.

Mystery Water Well in Calgary Yields 10 Barrels of Oil Daily
CALGARY, (CP)—A big water well within the eastern limits of Calgary has turned into an oil well and is yielding an average of 10 barrels of high gravity oil similar to that obtained in Turner Valley. It was leased Friday.

Source of the oil is a mystery. Oil men say it might come either from seepage originating at the surface from oil pipelines or refineries in the area. The first theory says it is unlikely. The British-American Oil Company refinery is about three-quarters of a mile north of the "oil well" and on slightly higher ground. Conceivably the oil could be coming from a leak in a tank or a pipeline at the refinery. But for 10 barrels a day to be showing up at this well, many thousands would probably have escaped at the source. And the refinery says it has not lost any oil, either from a tank or a pipeline.

The well is on the small farm of Donald F. McFadyen, and a small syndicate has been formed which is pumping the oil from well and selling it to a Turner Valley refinery.

Imperial Starts Third Leduc Well

Third well of Imperial Oil Limited in Leduc area was spudded in at 8:00 p.m. Friday and by early Saturday night crews had sunk the hole to 119 feet. This gives the company two wells drilling in the rapidly developing oil field and one well continuing under production tests.

Leduc No. 1 has produced about 8,000 barrels in tests during the past month, ending Saturday. No. 2 was reported at 3,999 feet, about 1,500 feet short of the level on which the discovery well became a producer. There was some activity at the location for No. 4 well and it was reported Saturday that a contract's drilling rig is on its way to the site.

Ex-City Pastor's Actions Debated
WINNIPEG, (CP)—A special committee on pastoral relations, appointed by the Winnipeg presbytery, met here Friday night to consider how differences between Rev. Russell McGillivray, minister of Augustine United church, formerly of Edmonton, and the church elders could best be solved.

The dispute was first aired last Sunday, when Mr. McGillivray said that during his 7 1/2 years' pastorate he had "to endure the petty criticisms, opposition and dilatory of certain members of the session. I have had 89 meetings with my session. I have never had a pleasant session meeting in that time."

A form letter bearing the names of 18 members of the church session was mailed out this week to the congregation. It said, "If we do not bring in fresh leadership, enthusiasm and method of approach, we are a dying congregation."

"Our minister chose to make this a public issue before any meeting had arisen. It was farthest from our minds that either the minister or our church should be harmed. . . . It was found that a large majority . . . were of the opinion that a change of ministry would be desirable. A small group was delegated to interview the minister and convey to him these views. Such an interview was denied."

Mr. McGillivray was minister of Central United church in Edmonton from 1926 to 1930.

3 Judges Start Suit for Libel
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Solicitors for three members of Newfoundland's supreme court bench, in a writ issued Friday, asked court damages for alleged defamatory statements in a speech before the island's national convention by Maj. Peter Coshin, member for St. John's West.

The writ, issued on behalf of Chief Justice L. E. Emerson and Justices J. A. Winter and H. A. Winter, alleged that Coshin in a speech Feb. 28 had "falsely and maliciously spoken and recorded of the three plaintiffs at a public session of the national convention certain words whereby the plaintiffs were greatly prejudiced and injured in their credit and reputation in their respective offices and brought into public scandal and contempt."

The plaintiffs were the three judges. Coshin's speech was said to have been "a gross and malicious attack on the three plaintiffs and on the judiciary of Newfoundland."

The writ sought damages of $10,000 for each of the three plaintiffs and costs of the suit.

The writ was issued by the solicitors for the three judges, Messrs. J. A. Winter and H. A. Winter, and J. A. Winter.

Cross Defends Mental Homes

Answering other charges, Dr. Cross said patients were issued with sufficient socks and other clothing, that tubercular patients were segregated in special wards and that not only were insulin treatments maintained in cases where the type was specifically prescribed but that electro-shock treatments were also used to aid in curing patients.

Treat Ex-Servicemen Of charges that ex-servicemen patients were not being given curative treatments, Dr. Cross said all these patients had been given active treatment. Some, he said, still are at the Ponoka institution receiving treatment. Those transferred to Oliver are considered senile mental patients "and to go on torturing them with the convulsions and shock that follows insulin and electro-shock treatments would be a crime against humanity."

The minister denied that either Ponoka or Oliver were "fire-traps." He quoted from reports of superintendents and other officials at both institutions which stated the buildings had adequate fire protection, including special fire brigades, connections with water supplies, fire escapes and protective devices.

"Routine examinations" in the mental institutions mean that every patient is given a thorough physical and mental examination every three months, the minister said. Examinations are given every day to patients in need of them during a sickness or disability.

Salaries Compare Favorably Salary schedule in both institutions compares favorably with other provinces, Dr. Cross declared. The salaries range from a maximum of $1,800 for a graduate attendant to $2,700 for a superintendent of nurses.

In conclusion Dr. Cross read a letter from Dr. M. T. MacEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons which commented on a visit of the college's LeRoy Stewart, 33, of Peoria, Ill., a factory worker discouraged by his inability to find living quarters for his wife and three small children, who has offered one of his eyes in exchange for a home. His former home at Arcola, Ill., was sold and his family was forced to move.

ministers investigation into subversive activities: "Interesting."

As to what prompted Sullivan to "walk the plank," there were several theories. One that could be discarded immediately was the suggestion that the Russian espionage probe might be extended in Sullivan's direction. There appeared to be no question but that he had come out of that with clean decks.

Exonerate Driver Wetaskawin Death

WETASKAWIN. — A coroner's jury Friday exonerated D. G. Pratt of Wetaskawin in connection with the death of Albert Mitchell, 69, who died of injuries after being struck by a car driven by Mr. Pratt. Accident occurred on the No. 2 highway near here last Tuesday. Mr. Mitchell died in hospital on Wednesday.

Evidence revealed Mr. Mitchell had been walking on the wrong side of the road and had made no attempt to get out of the way.

R.C.M.P. reported Pratt's car was in good mechanical condition.

Alex Mitchell, Edmonton, son of the dead man, stated his father was slightly deaf.

Asks Continuation

Commodity Boards

OTTAWA. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner, calling in the commons Friday for continuation of the wartime meat and commodity boards, said there were no provincial boards to handle such things as bacon, eggs, or cheese.

The minister spoke on second reading a bill that would extend for one year the life of the meat board, the special products board and the dairy products board. It would also make special provision for an apple contract with the United Kingdom.

The bill met opposition from Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members.

Mr. Gardiner said the main purpose of the bill was to continue boards which would purchase products needed for the continuation of contracts with the United Kingdom. He was sharply critical of a statement in the British house of commons that Canada was trying to make the most of Britain's food shortage to get the highest price.

3 Children Die In Farm Home Fire

PORT ARTHUR. (CP)—Three children were burned to death and their mother was in critical condition Saturday in a Port William hospital as a result of a fire which destroyed their farm home 10 miles west of here Thursday night.

Dead are six-year-old Leona, Bernst and her nine-month-old twin brothers, Charles and Clarence.

The fire is believed to have started when gasoline or kerosene was thrown on the kitchen fire and exploded.

Mrs. Bernst, her clothing in flames and one foot bare as she raced through the snow, ran 300 yards to the house of a neighbor, for help. It was too late.

HOURS-CUT TURNED DOWN The Northern Ireland house of commons turned down an amendment to the Shops bill providing working hours of 40 hours a week, instead of 48, for clerks in stores.

The minister of home affairs said this would damage industry more than it would improve the lot of employees.

Russia Holding 890,532 Germans

Marshall Saturday summoned Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, military governor of Germany, to Moscow to serve as one of his peace advisers.

Soviet attacks on German administration made it necessary to have a U.S. representative at the council table who is fully acquainted with all the facts and who can quickly supply Marshall with the required answers.

Molotov Friday urged the ministers to take immediate action on establishing central trade unions and central political agencies before taking up economic questions in Germany.

He was blocked immediately by Bevin, who declared coldly that he had not come to Moscow to place his government in a costly position. He said Britain was ready to pay figures on the table showing the amount of reparations taken from Germany, and that Britain expected the other powers to do the same.

The Soviet press Saturday renewed its attack on proposed United States aid to Greece and Turkey in a Pravda editorial which said that in President Truman's plan "a policy of imperialist expansion is revealed under the guise of charity."

The Chinese embassy formally notified Marshall and Bevin Saturday that "the Chinese government cannot take part in or agree to a meeting on the Chinese situation, as suggested by Molotov."

Samuel Hearsey, of Ballyneamore, was congratulated by the Countess Granville when she visited the Young Farmers' Horticultural Show at Mourne, Northern Ireland, on growing the biggest potatoes she ever had seen—two weighed 2½ pounds each.

What Is an Internal Bath?

A bona-fide internal bath is the administration into the intestinal tract of pure warm water, Tyrritized by a marvelous antiseptic. The appliance that holds the liquid and injects it is the J. B. L. Cascade, the invention of that eminent physician, Dr. Charles A. Tyrrill, who perfected it to save his own life. Now, here is where the internal bath differs from the enema.

The lower intestine, called by the great Professor Foges "the most prolific source of disease," is five feet long and shaped like an inverted U. The enema cleanses but a third of this "horseshoe," or to the first bend. The J. B. L. Cascade treatment cleanses it the entire length.

Why Take an Internal Bath?

Here is why: The intestinal tract is the waste canal of the body. Due to our soft foods, lack of vigorous exercise, and highly artificial civilization, a large percentage of persons suffer from intestinal stasis (delay). The passage of waste is entirely too slow. Results: Germs and poison breed in this waste and enter the blood through the blood

French Assembly Again Disrupted

PARIS, (Reuters) — The debate on Indo-China in the French national assembly Friday was suspended until Tuesday when a deafening uproar followed a third walk-out of Maurice Thorez and other Communist deputies.

The "protest" walk-out followed accusations by Maurice Violette (Radical) that the French Communist party was following an "anti-French policy" in the French colonies.

When the Communists returned to their seats after a short absence they continued to thump their desks in violent disapproval of Violette until the speaker, Edouard Herriot, unable to restore order, suspended the meeting.

This is what the new home of the South Side branch of the Canadian Legion will look like when completed. The branch is inviting the support of citizens and business firms to assist in financing the completion of the proposed building, which is estimated to cost approximately $40,000. It is expected work will commence on it in the early spring. It will be erected on the north side of 81 ave. between 104 and 105 streets. With this new home, the Legion branch anticipates being in a better position to encourage social, sports and educational activities for all citizens who are interested in community welfare.

Canada to Keep Export Controls

OTTAWA, (CP) — Justice Minister Hiley said Friday export controls would be required as long as Canadian prices remained lower than those in the United States because otherwise "all our goods will go to the United States."

Testifying before the common committee on banking and commerce, Mr. Hiley said the controls were necessary if Canada were to carry out her food commitments with Britain.

By the same token, import controls were necessary to ensure equitable distribution in Canada of scarce articles and commodities which had to be purchased abroad.

Mr. Hiley said lumber was an extreme example of the necessity for export control because if there was no such restriction all of the dominion's lumber supplies would go to the higher-paying export markets.

"But I Am Not Sick"

You say, "I'm only tired."

But if you are nervous, irritable and restless, easily tired and lacking in energy you are certainly not well.

So why not do something about it before you have persistent headaches, sensitive or neuralgic pains and other indications of nervous exhaustion.

A few weeks' regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may prove to be exactly what you need to win back pep, energy and good health.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the mineral tonics and Vitamin B, which your digestive system is now failing to provide, from the food you eat. This is nature's way of restoring health and vigor.

Why not let Dr. Chase's Nerve Food help you as it does so many others. More than twice as many people use this medicine than did five years ago. There must be a reason.

Ask your Druggist for the new economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Labor's Status in Alberta

The Alberta labor law is the most complete and favorable to labor in all Canada. Very properly, it extends to all organized workers that protection which they require and which they have earned. It has set up a highly efficient system under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act for the settlement of labor disputes and the prevention of useless and unprofitable strikes.

During the past year there have been strikes in 66 institutions in Alberta, involving 8,732 workers and the loss of 14,448 man-working-days, which came under federal jurisdiction. In the same period there have been strikes, under provincial jurisdiction, in 34 institutions, involving 823 workers and a loss, up to the present, of nearly 9,500 man-working-days.

In all these 34 strikes under provincial jurisdiction, not one followed the provisions of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

That is to say that excellent and commendable as this law may be, it still does not work because of one serious omission. It fails to work and to extend its beneficence to Alberta production because unions are not legal persons and thus do not come within control of the law.

Employers and management can be made to toe the line under Alberta's labor law because employers and management are legal entities and can be fined or sent to jail. Unions are not legal entities and can not be penalized for ignoring Alberta's labor laws.

This is the astounding fact. And it would seem, in all common sense, that the first essential amendment to Alberta's labor law should be to make labor unions legal persons so that those laws will apply to them.

It can be done very simply by forcing all unions operating in Alberta to incorporate under the laws of Alberta and to keep all their funds in Canada. If this is not done, all the labor legislation becomes ineffective because it cannot be made to apply to organized workmen.

Municipalities Want More

The Manitoba legislature heard an appeal a few days ago for a reallocation of "tax fields" between the province and the municipalities. Since the province has secured a favorable financial arrangement with the Dominion, it was argued, it is in a better position to make some concessions to the municipalities. In particular it was suggested that municipal treasuries be given a share of liquor profits and gasoline-tax money.

In other provinces, Alberta included, there have been similar appeals from municipal authorities. The record of these appeals runs back many years. That there should be renewed representations now, because of the aid the provinces have received from the Dominion, is natural enough.

The broad fact is that there is and has long been a three-way dispute among municipal, provincial and federal authorities as to which should get the revenue raised by this, that or the other tax. The root of the disagreement is that while there are three tax-collecting agencies there is only one group of taxpayers—including everybody in the country.

The taxes levied by all three collecting agencies come from the same pockets. The "quarrel" is as to which of the three should hold a monopoly right to tap the pockets by any particular levy. If all three levied, say, income taxes or sales taxes, there would be a political explosion. To multiply tax schemes and divide these among the three is the line of least resistance. What has been generally ignored in practice is that the schemes are all aimed at the same people, and the cumulative effect is pretty much the same as if we had triple-taxation under the same headings.

It is plain, and getting plainer, that the municipalities have been watching the dealings between the provinces and the Dominion with something more than spectator attention. They, too, have claims, and intend to press them. The more the provinces get out of their agreements with the Dominion, the more certainly will the municipal councils urge their demands upon the provinces.

What is indicated is the need to start three-way negotiations in hope of reaching a division of taxing powers which will meet the actual needs of municipalities, provinces and the Dominion, put an end to bickering, and give the taxpayer some security against being made a victim of competitive tax raids. There doesn't seem to be any other way to build a permanent and satisfactory tax structure.

Homeless Home Owners

There is perhaps no regulation so hard to enforce without injustice to one party or the other as the anti-ejection rules. This is illustrated in that the Government, which has given such minute thought to veteran re-establishment, adopted an ejection regulation which puts some of that class at a special disadvantage. The reference is to the regulation which permits only proprietors who bought their property between November 1, 1944, and July 25, 1945, to evict their tenants on reasonable notice in order to gain occupancy for themselves.

What this means is that only civilian buyers are affected, since there were practically no veteran-buyers in the period named.

This is a real disadvantage for the veteran who was overseas during that period and since he was not then in position to buy a house in Canada. Those who returned after July 25th, 1945, and bought houses, cannot secure possession unless the tenants vacate voluntarily.

The benefit of this time limitation applies only to civilian buyers and to those servicemen who were in Canada in time to buy houses before the deadline. These are able to gain possession of their homes if they can prove the "need." But the veteran, with few exceptions, had no chance to buy during the period specified; and if he has bought since he cannot obtain possession of his property.

Planktons?

Somewhere, it seems, there is always a scientist bobbing up to give people the jitters. The latest of these contributors to uneasiness is Dr. Walton Smith, of the marine laboratory at the University of Miami.

He says that if wars do not keep down the world's population our descendants 150 years from now will all be vegetarians. There won't be any food to spare for animals about 1,909 A.D.—bearing the possibility that atomic bombs or other population-reducing weapons may interfere with the net gains recorded in the tables of vital statistics. And, if no animals, there won't be any meat on the world's tables.

Still, the Dr. has one "out" for the meat-eater who doesn't want to live on "rabbit food." He has found a meat-substitute, in the ocean. It is a microscopic creature called a plankton. Fish live on these minute organisms and he suggests humans might also be able to do it.

The reaction of the meat-eating human does not seem likely to be enthusiastic. Positively not. As between swilling down planktons like a fish and filling up even with spinach, the vegetable will be preferred. And if it comes to living on a vegetarian menu re-enforced with planktons he may wonder why he should live at all.

"Sick Unto Death"

A young clergyman down in Nova Scotia is leaving his pulpit because he refuses to submit to ecclesiastical discipline. Church authorities charge that his sermons have been so fanatical and extreme that he has caused a serious breach in his congregation.

This young man, preaching his last sermon to this congregation, declared that the Church was "sick unto death" and was "feeding upon the land and giving little spiritual nourishment in return."

Now it may be said on behalf of this young clergyman that congregations need to be told the truth, and not only what they may like to hear. But he seems to have carried the matter to extreme and to have offended, not so much the sensibilities of his flock, but the tenets of their faith. In which case it is right and proper that he should be disciplined by competent church authorities because, without such discipline, unchecked individuals could soon fall into dangerous and fanatical heresies.

It must be assumed, in all faith and reason, that the wisdom of the Church is greater and more firmly established than the wisdom of any one of its clerics.

But the chief point to be considered in connection with this young man's case is his charge that the "Church is sick unto death" and it is "feeding upon the land and giving little spiritual nourishment in return."

He appears to have his facts slightly twisted. It is not the Church that is "sick unto death," but the people who refuse to have anything to do with the Church. The Church is exactly the same as it always has been and always will be. Nothing can affect its health. Nothing can affect its permanence and its truth and its power and its universality. And when people stand aloof from its ministrations, it is not the Church that suffers but themselves.

It is difficult, too, to understand his reference to the Church "feeding upon the land." Regular churchgoers in Canada number about fifteen per cent of the population. The average churchgoer contributes something like ten dollars per year to the Church. If the Church, then, is "feeding upon the land," it is getting a dreadfully slim meal.

On the other hand, the "spiritual nourishment" offered by the Church is always there for anyone to partake. If they do not partake, the blame does not rest upon the Church.

West Calgary's Progressive Conservative member, "Art" Smith, urging the bringing of the Olympic games to Banff, dismissed the accommodation problem with "It can be overcome." Then why hasn't it?

"The six groups who advocate a federation of the world declare they represented 18,000 active members . . . As far as I could see," writes Dorothy Thompson, "they represented not one from the 'world' except America." That's not unusual. The world series, for instance.

"Sixty Years Ago" describes a stampede of galloping horses and decorated vehicles along Main street in Edmonton by way of celebration of a political victory. The predecessor by sixty years of today's horn-toting caravansaries.

Lew Ayres — Miss Lester

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

I went to the movies the other day to see my old favorite, Lew Ayres. He is thinner, older, probably sadder and wiser, than when he played "young Doctor Kildare."

They foolishly said that Lew "ruined his career" when he declined to serve as a combat soldier, in war. It seemed that Lew had deep scruples against killing. So had a few million other guys for that matter. But Lew's were on a different plane. When the army finally got it through its head that Lew was no coward — but on the contrary a doubly brave man — everybody treated him with respect.

For a "pacifist" who is willing to go into any danger — right to the front lines — provided that his job is to save life, not to take it, never needs to expect contempt.

YEARS BEFORE Hitler's war came along, it was clear that our great Canadian peoples' leader, J. S. Woodsworth, was going to find himself morally isolated when the conflict came.

Woodsworth was all his life a primitive Christian — he simply believed that it was wrong to take human life. Not even his own party could "go along with him on that. For they, like the rest of us, boiled the struggle down to "fight or submit."

THE FRIENDS, or Quakers, are pacifists who are more and more respected by every nation on earth. Surely that proves something.

Then, too, I notice that remarkable Englishwoman, Muriel Lester, gets a wider and wider audience on her round-the-world tour, which has just brought her from India and China to America.

Miss Lester has toured North America eleven times before—last time, as I recall it, with that great leader, Stanley Jones. That was at the darkest period of the recent war. We simply would not listen to her anti-violence message then.

MISS LESTER has a genius for terse, vivid description. Listen to this about her recent trip to India: "I've seen Miss Jinnah. One of the Greek Furies, exquisitely dressed in an almost transparent black sari, her hair fascinatingly black and white, and cut short to frame her vivid face. Eyes of living black fire. She talked for half an hour. Britain ignores her promises, she said, breaks faith and bows to violence. All right, she shall have it. God is with the Moslems. They know it. They will never submit to the Hindus. There will be no giving way. They will resist to the last man."

MISS LESTER sees the fun in everything — which explains perhaps why this woman pacifist is invariably a favorite with army people. She writes:

"Pacifists hob-nob with the military. This is the jolliest voyage I've ever had."

Lord Wavell cut through red tape to get her a passport into Afghanistan. She writes of the trip:

"We've just arrived after 190 miles in bus from Peshawar . . . exit door kept swinging open. The driver, a genius, would lean over and bolt it with his left hand. He had pals sitting beside him, who engaged him in compelling conversation, irrespective of precipices yawning below us."

But her mission is serious.

"Then I told them about dislocation in Europe, about how the 400 years' process of optimistic humanitarianism had led men to think he knows better than God — how race suicide can only be averted by the tiny majority in each country whose hope is in God, learning from each other. . . . The rioting here has made folk more realistic about looking for the inner springs of mercy, courage and brotherhood, and their deadly opposites."

The Four or the Three

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Why did General Marshall insist, upon his departure for Moscow, on a four-power treaty for 40 years? And why, both in a recent speech and in his last press conference, did he speak of the situation being "highly critical?"

I suggest that the emphasis on a four-power understanding was to offset the understanding of a triple entente—Great Britain, France, Russia—with the United States relegated to the position of underwriting it in Europe, while she assumes responsibility for the Pacific and the Middle East.

The scheduled withdrawal of Great Britain was a Labor party policy. But it is supported by the emergence of the U. S. as the leading Pacific power. Either she had to make common cause with the British and other European empires in the East, or those empires could not be maintained or reconstructed. The Indian Ocean is but a continuation of the Pacific, which is the only approach to India from the West.

GREAT BRITAIN'S withdrawal from India would have been forced upon any British government by the unwillingness of the U.S. and American public opinion to support the British and make common new plans in Asia. British recognition of this and the steps she is taking in admission of them have taken courage of a daring order.

The sudden Soviet agreement to the U.S. trusteeship of the Pacific Islands will, no doubt, be used to bargain for a quid pro quo, but it was actually recognition of reality. The Soviets neither count on sharing the power they have, nor successfully claiming power they have not. Nothing and no one can prevent the U.S. from ruling those islands. The USSR is neither a naval nor an Oceanic power. She is a huge land with frontiers in China, India and Europe, and whatever policies she follows can only be backed by that form of power.

If Britain withdraws from India, the "lifeline" through the Middle East loses significance.

BRITISH WITHDRAWAL from these areas means concentration on Europe and Africa. History is paved with the bones of those who have said the British Empire was finished.

Toward Europe, Britain, from the end of the French wars—more than a century ago—maintained an isolationist attitude. British policy was to prevent consolidation of Europe under a single hegemony directed against her. Otherwise, she left the continent isolated.

Today that policy would be suicidal. Britain is in Europe to stay, unless Europe can be revived as a single confederation within its own historical and cultural frontiers, independent of power politics in the USSR, or Britain and the U.S. It would be neutralized, instead, between them and guaranteed by both as a region, within the U.N. That, in my opinion, should be and should have been the U.S. policy: Europe with Germany smashed, and divided into states each smaller than any of the larger European states—federated, democratic, and free, not requiring our permanent or spurious intervention but permitting our disinterestedness.

But Europe today is divided into spheres of influence, and the evidence seems to be that a Triple Entente is forming along those lines. It is impossible to believe such a situation can be stable. At most it promises an armed truce. But Britain, France and the USSR all are compelled to play for time. France because she is dolorously disorganized, Britain because she needs several years to reconsolidate along new lines, Russia because she is in a far worse state than her aggressive words indicate.

THUS, THERE is—I think—a tacit understanding among all three not to take risks within the next years, even if present agreements are certain to lead eventually to war or to catastrophe.

Moscow, therefore, is likely to be a sort of Munich with this difference: that all the European powers are set somewhat to appease each other for the short run, each thinking time is its ally. The one nation for whom time is not an ally and whose strength it was put firmly behind a positive construction policy—might be decisive for real peace, is the U.S. But she already has lost ground and dissipated her moral and intellectual leadership by fighting a war without any positive objective. Now the outlook is that she will be pushed out of Europe—a consummation devoutly to be wished under correct circumstances—but by policies which she must, at the same time, underwrite, financially and otherwise, and which hold no promise of prolonged success.

I think this apprehension is be-

Righting a Wrong

By HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

The announcement by Veterans Minister Ian MacKenzie that the government will pay the cost of carrying out repairs required as a result of faulty construction in veterans' homes built under the VLA will be good news to many who are buying these houses. It brings to an end one of the most stormy issues yet to arise out of the rehabilitation legislation.

In Alberta our experience with VLA houses was generally good although there were some major objections to some of the houses built in Calgary. In Edmonton while there were scattered complaints there were no serious faults found by the inspecting party who declared the Edmonton homes on the Martin Estate south of the city the best in all Canada. It was in Ontario and British Columbia that they found the worst faults. Some were due to workmanship, some were due to the use of faulty materials.

FOLLOWING a storm of complaints, especially from veterans in the Windsor project, Mr. MacKenzie ordered an investigation. It was carried out by Walter S. Woods, the deputy minister. Gordon Marchand, director of the VLA, and Lt. Col. Chick Parish, of Montreal, who acted as technical advisor to the minister.

They found that while there had been some natural exaggeration some of the houses were in deplorable shape even before they were occupied due to careless workmanship, the use of damaged and inferior materials, and inadequate inspections. The alternatives which faced them were either to cancel the deals and cut their losses, cut the sale prices of the homes and let the veterans buy inferior homes at lowered prices, or carry out the necessary repairs so that the deficiencies were corrected. They properly chose the latter course as the only satisfactory and proper one — although it may cost as much as $700,000.

The minister is to be congratulated for not yielding to requests that he should set up a royal commission to investigate the complaints. Neither the veterans concerned nor the Canadian Legion wanted a royal commission because royal commissions are noted for spending a lot of time getting nothing done. As it is, the job of repairing the homes will be well underway long before a royal commission could have started its hearings. A royal commission couldn't have accomplished any more than this, and it is doubtful whether it could have done as well.

CREDIT SHOULD be given to Mr. MacKenzie for the way he handled this affair. He couldn't have chosen a more satisfactory person as technical advisor than Col. Chick Parish. It is a veteran of this war with an enviable record as the commander of a tank regiment in France. He is also one of Canada's foremost construction engineers. In politics he is a Conservative. He is a member of the Canadian Legion's National Housing Committee. And he took on the job on the distinct understanding that he was to be free to report exactly what he found — with no strings and no attempt to "whitewash" anybody.

Libel and Slander

Windsor Star
Another province is moving to wipe out a discrimination in the law respecting libel and slander that is long overdue. This should not be left to the local legislatures. A change in the Criminal Code of Canada should be made to cover it.

The newspapers are placed under an entirely unwarranted disadvantage as the law now stands. If they publish an untrue or unfair report against a person or organization, they can be charged with libel. The radio, however, depending entirely on the spoken word, is liable only for slander, officially a much less serious offence. This in spite of the fact that what goes out over the air may reach a larger number of people than the printed story.

This is a case in which the law should be brought into step with modern development. The discrimination should be wiped out, all the way across the Dominion.

Trolley Buses

Saskatoon Star-Phoenix
The action of the city council in approving purchase of four trolley buses and overhead equipment has not been taken any too soon.
The case for this type of vehicle has been pretty well proved. The street railway superintendent is strongly in favor of the noiseless, manoeuvrable coaches. The city commissioner supports him. Most of the aldermen seem to be sold on the idea. A symposium of transit men in Winnipeg last summer, attended by Saskatoon officials, made clear the superiority of the trolley bus over the rail car.

The ancient civilizations, Egyptian, Phoenician, Greek and Roman were familiar with certain phases of chemistry.

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

MORE COMPLETE INFORMATION concerning the series of events which led up to the abandonment of the playoff trail by New Method, tends to show quite convincingly that the winners of the Alberta intermediate title did not receive the treatment to which they were entitled.

It was earlier stated in this corner the Edmonton team was compelled to forfeit its rights because of the guarantee being too high. To be more correct—while the New Method club considered the guarantee too high and was unable to meet it, the series was not abandoned for that identical reason, even although the result was the same.

The guarantee asked was $2,000. Mayor Harry Ainlay got behind the project and so did Charles E. Wilson, arena manager, who is also manager of the Exhibition Association, with the result that conditions were met. It should be added, too, that New Method club waived its rights to game allowances which eased the load somewhat. Vernon arena however, called the next move, insisting that its contract had to be fulfilled and that was that.

Mayor and Arena Co-operated

LEROY FARMER, PRESIDENT OF THE New Method club, is grateful for the co-operation of the Mayor and the assistance of Manager Wilson. He stated that under the original arrangement notice of which was received toward the end of January, the semi-final was to be played in Alberta, with the Manitoba-Saskatchewan winners coming as opposition.

That was the deal last year and the winners, Edmonton Independents, went to Vernon for the final series and returned with the Western intermediate title. The change, which meant Alberta's contender had to proceed at once to Vernon for a semi-final playoff and if successful, await the arrival there of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan survivor, was made about three weeks ago.

The switch meant the New Method team, all the members of which are working, might be away for two weeks at least, and Mr. Farmer says, "the boys just can't get away from their jobs that long and they shouldn't be expected to."

Five of Last Year's Champs

NEW METHOD TEAM, INCIDENTALLY, has five members of last year's Independents, Western intermediate champions—Louis Holmes, Billy Dave, Denny Klingspon, George Stuart and Bill McLellan.

The Independents engaged in nine playoff games before proceeding to Vernon—where the BC winner sat waiting and all primed up. Vegreville, Wetaskiwin, Grande Prairie and Coleman were disposed of by New Method. Vernon intermediates fell by the wayside long ago and so that town hasn't even a contender, but the arena there certainly can get games—plenty of them.

The Alberta playoffs finished right on the dot as per schedule, credit for which is entirely due to Bill Ruff. This year's Edmonton team had a very excellent chance of repeating and asked no concessions, merely looking for a reasonable playoff break.

Mickelson Worth Watching

RENN MITCHELL WHO SCORED eight points for Raymond Union Jacks against Varsity Bears Friday night, rates as one of the top three softball pitchers in the United States. Football also is included in Renn's sport repertoire for he used to play with the Calgary Bronks.

Bob Strother marked up only one basket in the game but it was a big one for it put Golden Bears ahead 47-44 and offset the field score by Len Rolfson seconds later. Bob's basket came immediately after the great display of possession ball given by Varsity and which extended well over three minutes with the Jacks not handling the ball once.

Reed Erickson of the Raymond team and Bill of Varsity are brothers. Glen Mickelson, tallest of the Jacks (and they are all big fellows) is 6 feet, 4 inches and he's just about the most prolific scorer ever seen on an Edmonton floor. Prof. Maury Van Vleet, coach of the Bears, said after the exciting session, "We always have to allow Mickelson 16 points even before we start a game." Bearcats, Varsity's second team, tied 39-39 in their playoff game at New Dayton last night.

Edmonton Assured Of Shuttle Title

SASKATOON, March 15 (CP)—

Play in the Saskatchewan badminton championships narrowed to the semi-finals here Friday, with visiting shuttle stars from Edmonton and Winnipeg well in the running. The tournament continues Saturday and finishes with finals Sunday.

EDMONTON HAD the women's singles title tied up when four players from the Alberta capital—Bessie McAvoy, Cal Holmgren, Irma McManus and Louise Marshall—reached the semi-finals. Miss McAvoy came up with the day's surprise by defeating Pat Moore, Saskatoon champion, 11-9 and 11-2 in the quarter-finals.

In the men's singles, Frank Long-ridge of Saskatoon swept into the semi-finals along with Les McManus of Edmonton, Warren Bransby of Saskatoon and Johnny Carter of Winnipeg. Longridge and Carter are the top-seeded players.

CARTER AND LEN LOWE of the Winnipeg Wildewood Club, advanced to the mens doubles semi-finals and Saturday met Ab Flavell and John Whelan of Saskatoon. In the other semi-final Longridge and Bob Hosie of Saskatoon face Les McManus and John Battersby of Edmonton.

In the women's doubles semi-finals Saturday, Cal Holmgren and Bessie McAvoy of Edmonton, play Mrs. W. J. Harvey and Mrs. J. E. A. Chisholm of Saskatoon in one bracket, while Louise Marshall and Irma McManus of Edmonton, meet Marg Flavell and Flo Bradbrook of Saskatoon in the other.

CHUMMY AT THE MOMENT: Gordon

Grayston and Vernon Escoc, principals in the March 18 heavyweight championship show at the North West Air Command drill hall, came to grips yesterday, but it was just a friendly handshake. Grayston is shown on the left and Escoc on the right, with Mayor Harry Ainlay in the center. Mayor Ainlay officially welcomed the boys to the city. Both are working out at the "Y". Grayston was scheduled to work out from 12:30 to 2 p.m. today and Escoc from 2 till 3:30.

Yesterday Grayston went through light training, while Escoc loosened up after his long train ride from Toronto by shadow boxing and punching the heavy bags. Today Escoc, who is the Canadian heavyweight champ, will box with Dr. Les Wilcox, Canadian Army heavyweight titlist and Johnny McQuinn, western university champion. Also available to keep him in top shape are Johnny Kos, Benny Geary, Alex Wymnichuk, and Roddy MacDonald.

Visitors Fail to Dent Top Trundling Marks

Calgary Trundlers, who were out in force yesterday, fired volleys of shots at the established marks in the Edmonton Five Pin Bowling Association tournament, but scarcely dented them as the event swung into its final day.

More than a week of constant shooting will end today and the association will bring the successful event to a close by holding a dance at the USO "hut" tonight.

WATT RAMSEY was the outstanding performer of the day, scoring 420 in a single game. It was the highest score chalked up so far and he and his partner, Marie Sangster, moved up to the top of the mixed doubles event with 1,671.

Peggy Coyle moved into the lead position in the "B" singles with 839, while Lucky Fives took over top place in the ladies' booster event with 2,671.

Fred Harris, manager of Gibson's Recreation alleys in Calgary, announced today that the Footbills city will be the scene of a western Canada tournament in May. He said all clubs affiliated with the Western Canada Bowling Association will be eligible and he expects players from all the major centres to compete. The western winners will probably challenge the eastern representatives, he asserted.

HARRIS COULD see a rosy future for the sport and ventured an opinion that some day soon there would be a Dominion play-off similar to the Macdonald Brier curling classic.

Following are the leaders in the various events:

"A" Singles — Nord 882; P. Page 828; O. Pain (Cal) 854; Cadell 851; Turner 819; Blythe 816; Betts (Cal) 816; Scheffeld 813; J. Rutherford 814; Haxby 809.

Calgary Juveniles Lead South Series

BELLEVUE, March 15 (CP)—

Calgary Tigers garnered a goal lead in the first game of a home and home series in the provincial juvenile semi-finals when they edged Bellevue 7-6 at the arena last night. Second game will be played in Calgary Monday evening.

Willocks paced Calgaryans with two goals and Finney, Beattie, Webster, Postlewaite, and Steele collected singles. Wakeluk and A. Wells topped Bellevue with two each, the others going to Scodellaro and Brozzoni.

IMMEDIATELY after resumption of play, Varsity went ahead 47-44, Bob Strother scoring on a pass from Jim Macrae.

Fred Turner's basket for Raymond cut the margin to a single point again. Varsity took a throw-in rather than a foul in order to make certain of possession, but with the time almost up, Price scored again from Bill Rich's throw-in immediately behind the basket.

GLEN MICKELSON was to score for the night, but his 20 points were just one better than Bill Price counted for Varsity. Boyd Oberholfer retired with five personals in the fourth quarter, but in addition to scoring 16 points he had done a good job of watching Mickelson.

Varsity Wins 49-46 Over Raymond Jacks

Bears Take First In Best-of-Three Cage Series Final

Finishing ahead of Raymond Union Jacks 49-46 in a thriller which was close all the way, University of Alberta Golden Bears took a one game lead in the best of three series for the senior basketball championship of the province at Varsity drill hall Friday night.

Second game is scheduled for 2:30 this afternoon and, if necessary, the third will be played at 8:30 tonight. YMCA Trollers defeated Hi All-stars 36-33 in last night's preliminary.

SEEKING ANOTHER title to add to a very lengthy list, the Jacks, defending Alberta champions, took the lead in the second quarter and were on top 26-21 at the half buzzer. The Bears finally caught up with the Raymond quintet, and just as the third quarter ended, Bill Price's basket put the students in front 36-34.

Leonard Rolfson's field score deadlocked the count at 42-42, but Bill Erickson replied for Varsity and the Bears stayed ahead from there to the end of the game.

PRICE INCREASED the count to 45-42 by sinking a foul, but Glen Mickelson, starry Raymond sniper, made both of two foul shots register, bringing Jacks back to a single point from Varsity.

There were 5 mins., 15 secs. remaining at this stage. The Bears adopting a "keep away" strategy in the hope of drawing the Jacks away from their basket area, retained possession of the ball without allowing a Raymond player to handle it, for exactly 3 mins., 16 secs., as the next whistle came with just a second under two minutes left.

Athletic Clubs to Help

Meeting Discusses Feasibility Of 12-Man High School Rugby

An enthusiastic meeting of high school teachers' representatives of the various city athletic clubs and other football enthusiasts presided over by Mayor Harry Ainlay, was held in the Council Chamber at the Civic Block Friday night to determine the feasibility of re-introducing 12-man rugby into the high schools.

A. HOOK OF CALGARY explained how co-operation of junior clubs are under a board of directors whose job it is to provide a pool of equipment for the clubs and also to exercise administrative control over them.

This board had made an agreement with the high schools in which they assist in coaching and equipping the school teams and which restricts the high school boys they may use. In this way, rugby has really stepped ahead in Calgary, says Hook.

DUNC INNIS, REPRESENTING the high school, the main reason why the 12-man game is not played in the high schools is lack of equipment. In some schools this is practically non-existent and in the best is far from the point where they can field a 12-man team properly equipped, Innis stated.

It was also stressed at the meeting that in any agreement there must be some definite arrangement regarding players eligible for high school and players who are eligible for junior teams.

The meeting wound up agreeing that a committee consisting of members of the city athletic clubs should meet in the near future to discuss the matter of raising funds to promote rugby.

THOSE ATTENDING THE meeting were: Mayor Ainlay; A. Hook, Calgary; Clarence Richards, chairman of the city recreation commission; Earl Samis, Maple Leafs; L. A. Duhamel, Ralph Blackmer, Canadians; K. D. Stewart, Eastwood; Walter Stewart, Victoria; Ed J. Botsford, Garneau; Pep Moon, Bud Marquardt, A. M. Allen, South Side; Dunc Innis, Seona; A. Sturdy, Bird, supervisor of school athletics; A. E. Rosborough, University high; Paul Kirk, Albert Olander; Steve Olander, vice-president, ARU; J. E. Butchart, Maple Leafs; Percy Daigle, EAC; R. McClure, EAC; Larue Smith, A. B. McKim, Westglen; A. D. MacDonald, St. Joseph's.

Two More Cards Today

Davis Scores Kayo At School Tourney

George Davis, Strathcona high school fighter, provided the highlight to Friday night's boxing card when he registered the first knockout of the three-day city schools boxing and wrestling tournament being held at Westglen gym. The big tourney continues this afternoon and will wind up tonight with a 22-bout boxing and wrestling card.

Davis who was a champ in his division last year, scored the knockout in the last bout of the night when he stopped Billy Gow, St. Joseph's battler, in 30 seconds of the first round.

THE DAVIS-GOW fight had shaped up as one of the best of the night and the two started mixing it furiously right from the bell. Before the large crowd of fans hardly knew what happened, Davis felled Gow with a terrific right to the face.

Three other bouts also failed to go the full route, all ending as technical knockouts. Neil Goddard, posted the first TKO in a midge elementary school fight when Ronnie Wray of Calder was unable to come out for the third and final round.

NESTOR LUDWICK of Victoria stopped Jack Roberts, Seona, late in the first round and the other TKO went to Jim Ego, St. Joseph's who halted Jim McGregor from the same school, also in the first. Ego and McGregor had both won bouts the previous night.

Decided last night when Benny Gustafson of McCauley earned the decision over Irwin Johnson, Cromdale in the intermediate school flyweight final.

THREE WRESTLING finals couer Canucks 4-3 here last night. Portland won the best-of-five semi-final round 3-1.

Canucks, United States amateur hockey champions last season, took a quick 3-0 lead in the opening period, but were not able to hold back the rampaging Eagles, who finished in top spot in the regular northern division race.

Eagles will meet Seattle Ironmen in the first game of the best-of-seven finals in Seattle Sunday. Seattle gained the finals by eliminating New Westminster Royals 3-1.

Edmonton Club Whips Calgary Midgets 6-4

Edmonton Athletic Club came roaring from behind last night to defeat Calgary Elks 6-4 and take a two-goal lead in the provincial midget hockey final at the Edmonton arena.

The second match of the two-game, total-point series will be played here today at 2 o'clock.

Calgary forged into a three-goal lead early in the first period, but Edmonton reduced the margin before the whistle blew. Edmonton turned on the pressure in the middle stanza to score three goals without reply and Edmonton outscored the visitors 2-1 in the last frame.

McAVOY was the 'big gun' for the winners with three goals, with MacDonald, Stewart and L'Heureux tying the others. Carruthers, with three, and Francis, with one goal and two assists, set the pace for Calgary.

EDMONTON: Astley, McAvoy, Dwyer, Dickson, Stewart, MacDonald, Munro, Mayson, Stogryn, McNabb, L'Heureux, O'Shea, Fygon.

CALGARY: Speale, Edwards, Lewis, Smith, Jenkins, Mataleto, Francis, Carruthers, Brown, Jarrett, Harder.

FIRST PERIOD: 1—Calgary, Carruthers (Francis); 2—Calgary, Francis; 4—Edmonton, Freeman (MacDonald).

SECOND PERIOD: 3—Edmonton, McAvoy; 6—Edmonton, McAvoy (O'Shea); 7—Edmonton, MacDonald (Stewart); Penalties—McAvoy, Dickson, Carruthers.

THIRD PERIOD: 8—Edmonton, L'Heureux (O'Shea-Dwyer); 9—Edmonton, McAvoy; 10—Calgary, Carruthers (Jarrett); Penalties—Dickson, Stewart, Loe (2).

Three Top Field In Open Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. March 15 (AP)—Three lesser lights among the touring golf professionals Friday forged into a tie for the lead at the half-way mark in the $10,000 Jacksonville open.

Two strokes out in front with a 36-hole total of 137 were Ed Furgol of Detroit, who fired a five-under-par 67, Jim Milward of Madison, Wis., who had 68, and Hig Clayton Haefer of Charlotte, N.C., who also shot a 68.

Shkor Surprises Tami Mauriello

BOSTON, March 15 (AP)—Courageous Johnny Shkor, the towering Boston heavyweight, weathered a furious storm to gain an upset eight-round technical knockout victory over New York's Tami Mauriello, rated just below champion Joe Louis, in their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout last night at the arena.

Shkor opened a wide cut over Mauriello's left eye in the second round and concentrated on that injury thereafter.

AFTER DR. ISAAC KLEIN of the Massachusetts boxing commission ordered referee Johnny Martin to end the bout, the bleeding and enraged Mauriello protested strenuously.

His seconds had to restrain him from rushing at Shkor and when the latter attempted the post-bout courtesies, Mauriello tried to kick him and then aimed a left at his head. Rotund Johnny Buckley, Shkor's manager, also came in range of one of the furious New Yorker's overtime punches before a detail of police stormed the ring and restored order.

A 36-hole total of 137 were Ed Furgol of Detroit, who fired a five-under-par 67, Jim Milward of Madison, Wis., who had 68, and Hig Clayton Haefer of Charlotte, N.C., who also shot a 68.

Moose Jaw Cops Saskatchewan Title

MOOSE JAW, Sask., March 15 (CP)—Moose Jaw Canucks last night won the Saskatchewan junior hockey championship for their third consecutive year, defeating Regina Pats 3-1 in the fourth game of their best of five provincial final to take the series 3-1.

Canucks won the first two games of the series 7-6 and 5-3 but dropped the third encounter to Pats 2-4.

MONDAY they will meet Lethbridge Native Sons, Alberta-British Columbia champions, in the first game of the western semifinals. The series will start in Moose Jaw.

Vic Krulewitz, Harvey Stein and Metro Prystay were the Moose Jaw goal getters in last night's contest which was played before a capacity crowd of 3,600.

Red Staley registered for Pats, who finished the regular league schedule in first place ahead of Canucks.

Wrestling Returns On April 7th

Wrestling will return to Edmonton on April 7th with a show scheduled for the Memorial Hall, Cecil (Tiger) Goldstick, matchmaker, announced last night. Goldstick was appointed matchmaker for promoter Tommy Tasker recently.

The card has not yet been arranged, but Goldstick stated last night that top-notch heavyweights are being lined up. Al Mills, who has done considerable wrestling throughout the United States, will be included in the first show.

SNEAD ONE UP
BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, March 15.—(Reuters)—Sam Snead, American holder of the British open golf championship, beat Bobby Locke, South African champion, by one hole in an 18-hole match here Friday.

Locke now leads Snead by 14 to 6 points in their current series on matches in South Africa.

Angott Registers First Round Kayo

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion, got up off the floor in the first round to knock out Nick Castiglione of Chicago in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium last night.

Angott, 34½, from Washington, Pa., scored the fourth victory in his comeback attempt, by flooring Castiglione, 34, for an eight-count in the second round and then putting him away for keeps in 241 of the fourth canto with a vicious right and left cross.

TO NATIONAL TRUST

Ritchie Triumphs In Pee Wee Final

Billy Geary came through with the winning goal as Ritchie scored a 2-1 overtime victory over West End in the deciding game of the Canadian Athletic Club Pee Wee Hockey League championship playoff at 'Varsity rink last night.

Stone talked for Ritchie and Trapanier counted for West End in the regulation time.

It was a hard fought series, with Ritchie taking the first, the second ending in a 3-3 tie, and West End taking the third 3-0.

WEST END: Fox, McGinnis, Beron, Trapanier, Smith, Savage, Korol, Pierce, Dryden, Kerevack, Grant, Branson.

RITCHIE: L. Hodgson, Geary, McAvoy, Fraser, McKillop, Stone, Myler, Gasche, Vergein, McMillan, Fowler, Richards, K. Hodgson, Hunter.

Injuries Continue To Haunt Rangers

NEW YORK, March 15 (CP)—New York Rangers, battling for the last play-off berth in the National Hockey League, will meet the Canadiens in Montreal tonight without the services of utility forward Alf Pike and defenceman Bill Moe, both out with injuries.

Pike suffered his third Charley horse of the season last Wednesday against Detroit and Moe is out with torn muscles in his right shoulder.

The Rangers lost 4-2 to Detroit and were pushed out of fourth place by a point with only five games to go. They had suffered many injuries in recent weeks.

Trail Captures BC Intermediate

VERNON, March 15 (CP)—Trail All Stars captured the Coy cup, emblematic of British Columbia intermediate hockey supremacy, here last night as they edged out a 4-3 overtime victory against Nanaimo Clippers before 2,600 fans in the fifth and deciding game of the best-of-five final series.

Trail will now meet the Coleman, Alta., Grands in the first game of the western Canada intermediate semi-finals here tonight.

THE WINNING GOAL was rammed home by Ed Paquette, starry Trail forward who paced Trail to victory in the fourth game of the series here Thursday night with a blistering five-goal effort.

Tom Appleton, Bert Milne, Sam Sammartino and Ed Paquette scored for Trail, while Ben Huddleston, Ed Varga and Bud Gourlie tallied for Clippers.

SUDDEN DEATH IN A CHICAGO STREET LEAVES TRAGIC GRIEF IN ITS WAKE

Copyright, 1947, by Acme Newspictures

DOING THEIR BIT—These eight to 14-year-old members of the Children's Aid Society of New York City put the Red Cross on the receiving end of the "Doughnut Wagon." All members of a cooking class, they made and sold doughnuts, turning the proceeds over to the Red Cross Fund Drive for 1947.

HEARD PLENTY—A New York City detective demonstrates a special listening device, made from an ordinary hearing aid, which was used to get evidence against a bookmaker. The device was effective enough to clinch conviction of the bookmaker.

SNOW BLITZ—Marie Klenk, Glendale, Pa., tries to hide behind a tree but gets splattered anyway during a snowball barrage. It all happened during a recent heavy snowfall around Philadelphia and its suburbs.

QUEEN OF THE COLLEENS—Lovely Janis Carter, Hollywood film player with smiling Irish eyes, would be a natural selection to reign as "Queen of Colleens" on St. Patrick's Day. The green shamrocks on her swimming suit fit the occasion.

AERIAL SEARCH—High over California's rugged Sierra Mountains, a lone Army plane carries on the search for Grant E. Cox, 21, who disappeared while on a ski trip. The plane is equipped to drop food, clothing and survival gear in event it locates Cox in some isolated spot.

IMPACT OF TRAGEDY—Hysterical after hearing that her mother had been shot and killed on a Chicago street, apparently by a robber, Mrs. Gertrude Bennett, 21, seeks comfort in the arms of her mother-in-law, Mrs. S. Bennett (left).

Shortcomings Bring Post-Marriage Woes

THE "BEFORE"-and-after-take effect of marriage has a familiar but always pathetic illustration in a letter that I have just received from a bride. She says that in the days of courtship she told her fiancé that she had gone from the school room into a business office, and that she had had no domestic training whatever. She could handle her boss's income tax with one hand tied behind her, but she hadn't the slightest idea of whether she should buy a whole sheep or a quarter of lamb for a Sunday roast for two.

To these frank confessions of her shortcomings as a potential wife, the boy friend grandly replied: "Tut, tut! Don't give it a thought. What if you don't know how to cook? It doesn't matter when we love each other so much. Besides, learning how to cook is no trick at all. You'll pick it up in no time."

AND SO, as the fairy tales says, they were married and they lived happily ever afterwards. For when romance collided with the kitchen stove, it blew up as if it had been hit by an atomic bomb.

To her consternation, the bride discovered that love isn't enough on which to found a happy home, and that when a hungry man comes home at night he craves something good to eat, instead of high-flown sentiment, also that if he doesn't get it, his theme song changes from "How Beautiful and Wonderful You Are" to the "Kind of Pie Mother Used To Make."

Whether men really think that knowledge of how to cook comes by nature, as Dorothy thought reading and writing did, no woman ever knows, for their attitude towards the matter shifts in the different sides of the altar. Before marriage they ignore the subject, or wave it airily aside as of no importance. You never hear of a youth asking a girl before he pops the question whether she can make biscuits that are not first aid to stomach ulcers, and whether she can brew coffee that doesn't taste like something Lucretia Borgia concocted.

NO MEN take it for granted before marriage that every girl is practically born with a set of pots and pans in her mouth, and that she knows by instinct how to give a star performance of the most complicated profession in the world. And when he finds that she can't even boil water without scorching it, he says things that no bride should ever have to hear. Many a woman sails down her honeymoon in her tears while she is learning how to cook.

But cooking isn't the only thing that makes marriages a guessing game because its effects upon the high contracting parties are so different before and after taking. There is looks for one thing. Before marriage a lad would not dream of presenting himself before the girl friend unless he was shaven and shorn and pressed and perfumed and was something to ravish any maiden's fancy. But after marriage he expects his wife to enjoy looking at him when he has a two day's stubble of beard on his face and is sitting on the back of his neck, with his shoes off, resting his feet. Ditto about women. Likewise many a woman who caught her husband by her smart clothes loses him after marriage by looking like something the cat brought in at home.

And think how talkative and entertaining husbands and wives are before marriage and how dumb afterwards! How they change from yes-yessers to no-noers! How they turn from flatterers into faultfinders!

No wonder marriage is called a gamble, for nobody knows what they are getting until after they have gotten it.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

I flew out to St. Paul, Minn., to attend the St. Paul Winter Carnival Championship Bridge Matches, which were included in that city's Carnival Week program. It was the first major tournament in St. Paul, and it immediately gained a position as one of the important tournaments of the country. In attendance it far exceeded some tournaments that have been established for years. Those of us from the east who attended the tournament were pleasantly surprised also by the fine calibre of bridge that was played.

The mixed-pair championship was won by Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Dayboch of St. Paul. Mr. Dayboch got himself into a fine contract on today's hand. He won top score when he made six-odd. He won the opening lead in dummy with the queen of clubs and elected to play a small spade. West played the deuce and Dayboch put on the nine-spot, which he played out his clubs. On the third club dummy's four of diamonds was discarded, and when East did not ruff the fourth club, the other diamond was discarded. A small diamond was trumped in dummy with the five of spades and the ace of hearts was cashed. A small heart was led from dummy, Dayboch ruffed with the three of spades, and ruffed the diamond eight in dummy with the ten of spades. The king of hearts was led. West trumped with the six. Dayboch overtrumped with the seven, and ruffed the eight of diamonds with the ace of spades. The only trick that West could make now was the king of spades.

"DISCONTINUED" — The marriage of Rita Hayworth and Orson Welles had been "discontinued" yesterday in Hollywood. But Orson, in their film colony home, denied it, declaring "Rita and I are separated only by geography." Rita is at Palm Springs, having just completed her work in a picture in which Welles co-starred and which he wrote, directed and produced. I just couldn't take it any longer," Rita told her studio. She did not amplify. Nor did she mention a divorce.

The Book of Knowledge

(Department: Things To Make and Do)

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.)

MORE KNOTS TO TIE

We have already told you how to tie some of the simpler knots used by sailors. Now you can learn to make some that are more difficult.

Remember that a loop in a rope is called a "bight." Remember, too, that the "standing part" means the part of the rope not right at the end, but a little way up; and that, in making a knot, we always bend the end round the standing part. In some knots, we use only one end of a rope; in others, we use two ropes or the two ends of one rope, in which case there are two "ends" and two "standing parts."

Carrick bend.

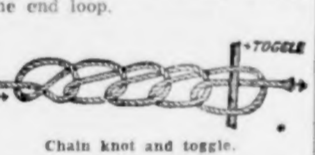

Our first picture shows the Carrick bend, which is rather complicated. It is made with two ropes or with two ends of one rope. We first make a bight of end No. 1, then pass the end of No. 2 through the bight, over the end of No. 1, round the standing part of No. 1, over the standing part of No. 2, and through the bight again, both parts coming out of the bight at different sides. The figures in the picture must be followed carefully in making this knot.

Flemish loop.

Now we come to the Flemish loop, which is made with one end only. First we make a common slip knot, and then, with the end, make an overhand knot round the standing part away from the loop.

The next illustration is what sailors know as the chain knot and toggle. It is really a number of common slip knots, which many schoolboys know as the drummer's knot, or the rat's tail. The toggle is the bar which is passed through the end loop.

Chain knot and toggle.

The chain knot is made by making a bight on the rope and crossing it. Then we pass a hand through the bight and catch the standing part, which we pull through, forming a loop. We repeat this to make as many loops in the chain as we may want. Then we pass the bar, or toggle, through the last loop, and haul on the end to tighten up all the loops.

Sheepshank.

The next is a sheepshank. In the language of sailors, it is generally used to shorten a rope on which there is a strain. A piece of the middle of the rope is held so as to form three parallel strands, or two bights. Round the end of each bight we make a hitch with the part leading to the end. As long as there is a strain, the knots hold securely.

The next is what is properly termed a bowline on a bight, and, to indicate clearly how to make it, there are two pictures, one showing it half made and the other showing it completed. We double the rope, and make a bight with it doubled. Then we pass the doubled end under, and up through the bight and back over the whole loop, and up to the part above the bight. The picture shows more clearly than words how this is done.

Bowline on a bight.

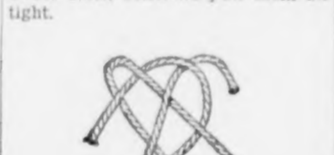

The wall knot is a neat way of finishing off a rope and preventing it from unlaying or coming apart. It is made in two stages. We untwist the three strands of which the rope is made for a distance about 8 inches long. Let us call these strands Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Wall knot.

We make a bight with strand No. 1 and pass strand No. 2 round the end of it; then we pass strand No. 3 round the end of No. 2 and through the bight of No. 1. Finally we haul the ends tight, shaping the knot evenly with the fingers. The wall knot requires a little practice to do it neatly, but it is not so difficult as it looks.

The crown knot is the wall knot carried a little farther. We make a wall knot, then take strand No. 1 over the center of the knot. Now we place strand No. 2 over No. 1, and strand No. 3 over No. 2 and under No. 1. Then we pull them all tight.

Crown knot.

In learning to make knots, remember that practice makes perfect. It is not enough to be able to make a given knot by following instructions. You should learn each knot so thoroughly that you will be able to make it without having to think about each step in the process. Making a sailor's knot should become as automatic a procedure as, say, fastening your shoelace or your necktie. You will be able to have a good deal of fun making these knots. You will find, too, that a knowledge of them will prove valuable.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Thelma Altman, vivacious brunette and star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, believes that the most charming thing about any woman is a "Look-Alive Look."

In order to achieve health and relaxation (the foundation of a look-alive look) Miss Altman indulges in what she calls her fundamental cosmetics, even in the midst of her busy career.

Her first fundamental cosmetic is diet. She consumes generous quantities of fruits and vegetables, eggs, milk, grains and lean meat, eating very lightly of, or entirely avoiding, the carbohydrates and fried delicacies. This sounds like a familiar refrain, but if you are to look and feel well, you simply must be careful about what you eat.

The second fundamental cosmetic consists of exercise. Here again it is impossible to reap benefits by simply thinking about exercise. You must actually go through a routine of bending and swaying and stretching in order to acquire suppleness and grace and beauty of figure. "Wishing will not do it," admonishes Miss Altman. "You have to work at it."

The third fundamental cosmetic is relaxation. "This, also," Miss Altman says, "must be done as regularly as exercise. Flopping down on a bed with a novel and some chocolates is not relaxation." She suggests that you pick a time in every day (personally she finds that minutes before dinner is ideal for her) when you can lie down in a dark room, put pads over your eyes and try to make your mind a blank. She likes to lie on the bed with a pillow under her feet, or on the floor with her feet on a chair, or on the floor with a hard bolster under her shoulder blades as she rests. You can make the bolster by rolling up a towel.

The last fundamental cosmetic, but not the least important, is sleep. You cannot go without sleep indefinitely without having it show in your face and in the way you act. Most of the suggestions of Thelma Altman's are known to most of us, but these tenets are likely to be highlighted in our minds when we know that a successful and busy and lovely person takes them seriously. This alive and to be alive and able, artist says, "If you want to look follow the fundamental cosmetic routine and you will soon find that your awareness has sharpened as your emotional and spiritual reactions reflect your physical well being."

will be a reflection of the parent in coarseness and insensitivity. That, to my notion, and I say it in all kinds of ways every day of the year, is not the privilege of any parent. If mild punishments must be used—and occasionally they are justified—then abusive language coupled with it only wounds the child and serves no useful purpose except to exhibit the parent's own uncontrolled temper.

What builds a good personality and a fine person is a parent who exemplifies good conduct and who treats her child with love and understanding, no matter what his behavior. Our leaflet No. 75 "Obedience and Punishment," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The most difficult advice for a parent to act upon is to be the person she wants her child to be. Yet none is so effective.

How can parents expect their children to be kind, when they themselves are not kind to them? How can they expect that children will not hit or hurt smaller children, when they are accustomed to being hit and hurt by physically superior parents? How can they hope to have a child who is careful of the language he uses, when he hears profanity and abusive language used to him?

These are all absurdities which some parents refuse to consider. They feel themselves absolved of all need to act in the ways they want their children to act. They feel that being adults they can do as they please, though they demand that their children shall make them proud by talking and acting in the ideal and desirable ways.

It won't work. It never has. Parents who handle their children roughly have children who handle other children, sisters, brothers or playmates, in the same rough way.

Parents used to speaking in coarse abusive manner discover their children using the same words against them or anyone else who momentarily displeases them.

These are all the answers there are to such a question as: "What do you think of a parent who punishes her child by using a strap and abusive language?" It is possible that she controls the situation for the moment. If the child is young and timid, but she is rearing a child who will in turn use his strength to bully younger weaker children, and similar words to berate them. The child will outgrow the parent's ability to conquer him with brute force, and

Revamp Buildings North Army Camp

GRANDE PRAIRIE.—Capt. G. L. Kyle of the Royal Canadian Engineers, Edmonton, arrived in Grande Prairie recently to supervise the work of changing the army drill hall and officers' mess at the former army training camp. Changes will be for "D" company, Loyal Edmonton Regiment of the reserve army. Organizations and clubs here will be able to avail themselves of the accommodation. Work will start at once and will be completed by March 31.

The town has leased the land on which both buildings stand, as well as the former parade grounds, to the department of national defense. The large drill hall will be partitioned in two from east to west and one section, about 4,000 square feet, will be converted into an auditorium with a large dance floor. The heating and lighting will be changed. When finished this auditorium may be used for community purposes such as dances, badminton and social gatherings with the permission of the local O. C. at present Capt. J. Mantle.

One wing of the officers' mess will be converted into the equivalent of a banquet room with adjoining kitchen facilities. The other wing will be a lecture room and living quarters. It will be equipped with showers and other conveniences and when rebuilt to specifications will be a sort of men's club for reserve army members.

GIVEN ROCKY PARISH

Maynard Denies Government Should Pay 50% School Cost

A vigorous defence of appropriations for the department of education and a denial that the province should shoulder 50 per cent of the cost of education, was made by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general, first speaker in the budget debate at Friday night's sittings of the Legislature.

"IT IS FUTILE to suggest that payment of 50 per cent of the cost of education would solve the educational problems of the province," Mr. Maynard said.

To what is this 50 per cent related? he asked.

He indicated that the boost in grants would not aid the teacher shortage and outlined phases through which the profession had passed in the last ten years.

The ideal he envisioned was to have mostly male teachers in Alberta schools, but he pointed out that in order to induce men to enter the profession higher salaries would have to be paid. To boost teachers' salaries by $100 a year would mean an additional cost of $300,000.

To place the average wage as high as $2,000 would mean an enormous drain on the tax payer, he thought.

The other alternative which faced the province was to continue to employ women for periods up to five years, or until they left the profession for the "higher calling of marriage."

HE READ FROM literature distributed by the Alberta Educational Council that school plants were inadequate, but stated that to bring all these buildings up to modern standards would drain the province's resources.

He outlined the rise in teachers' salaries since 1935 by stating that the average salaries paid then was $882, which had risen by 1945-46 to $1,526. Teachers' salaries have increased as provincial revenues have improved, he said.

He contrasted the situation in Ontario and B.C. with that in Alberta. In these two provinces the government was paying 50 per cent of the cost. They were the wealthier provinces, those that had the largest revenue. However, this province devoted a larger share of its revenue to education than any other province except Ontario, in 1946.

The field day itself will begin at 9 a.m. and continue till 1.30 p.m. at the farm, then finish off with a broomball game at the skating rink. Prizes won will be presented at the annual graduation banquet to be held at the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday.

Mr. Boutilier, secretary of the Alberta Farmers' Union, said today the farmers of Canada were "sacrificing considerable right now to supply wheat to Britain."

He was commenting upon a description of Canadian wheat farmers lying in wait to export the wheat from Europe. Britain needs the wheat to feed its army and navy.

Mr. Boutilier said Canada's wheat farmers had agreed to export wheat to the United Kingdom at a price of 10 shillings a bushel, which was a sacrifice of about 10 per cent.

"We haven't asked the government to establish the world wheat price at a level, I feel the farmers are taking a real ribbing," Mr. Waldron's statement will certainly not be appreciated by the farmers.

"Canada certainly sacrificed food and men to aid Britain."

256 Applicants for 35 Parcels Government Forced to Raffle Veterans' Requests for Land

So many applications have been received from veterans who wish to farm in the Warman area, now being cleared by the provincial government under a rehabilitation plan, it will be necessary to draw their names after the manner of a raffle.

THIS WAS REVEALED today by the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. N. L. Harcourt, minister of the department of agriculture, in a speech at the reception at the war veterans' hall.

He said 256 applications had been received, and that the government was not prepared to accept more than 35. To overcome the difficulty of selection, Mr. Harcourt said, the government had decided to draw names.

The first 50 or 60 names drawn will be given priority on the Warman land in the order in which they are drawn.

In setting aside certain Crown lands for veterans, Mr. Tanner said 74 parcels had been reserved and that the number of applications was being given land.

The minister asked for broadened public interest in forest conservation for complete co-operation respecting the "wooded areas" which are to be set aside in the future.

A portion of the Cooking Lake Forest Reserve is to be set aside for veterans.

MR. JUSTICE G. B. O'CONNOR

Supreme Court Judge Celebrates

Mr. Justice George B. O'Connor, who will celebrate his 64th birthday on Sunday, was the recipient of congratulations Saturday from members of the bench, bar and general public.

He was born March 14, 1883, at Walkerton, Ont., and was educated at public and high schools there, at a business school, Oshawa, Ont., and at the University of Toronto.

He started practice of law in 1905, after his admission to the bar of Ontario and the North West Territories in that year. He was created a King's Counsel in 1913, and was appointed to the trial division of the Supreme Court of Alberta in January, 1941. Last year he was elevated to the Court of Appeal of Alberta, succeeding the late Mr. Justice A. F. Bawing.

Land Raffle

The province was receiving rights to a number of camps and campsites.

Great value was attached by the minister to many funds of natural resources, and it was a very short time, natural gas would be of greater value in industry than oil, Mr. Tanner said.

There were 12 fatal accidents for every million tons of coal mined in the province in the last year, he stated. The record could not be lowered until the coal was mined in a safer manner, with better equipment and American fields.

MR. WRAY

Wray Asks Minister Drop His Portfolio

Request for the resignation of Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, since he no longer had confidence of the members, on Friday featured the budget address of Arthur Wray (Ind.-S.C.-Banff-Cochrane) after he had complained of lack of efficiency in the public works department, and that the amount of money appropriated for roads could not be spent in one year.

HE HAD QUOTED from a report of a committee set up to investigate road operations in 1937, sections of which suggested some incompetence on the part of servants of the department.

Statements in the public accounts about operations of treasury branches did not present a true picture, Mr. Wray charged, claiming that the appropriation for maintenance of treasury branch buildings appeared under the heading of the department of public works.

This was wrong, he contended, since it claimed that treasury branches now are making profits. In his opening remarks Mr. Wray suggested that rules of the house are being broken when members do not give a courteous hearing to opposition members.

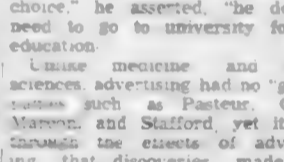

ASKED BY THE Speaker to produce his authority for that statement, Mr. Wray produced a rule

I SAW TODAY: Ald. J. R. Munro walking east on 18th street.

AND: M. E. Manning entering the commercial building, Bruce C. Whitaker leaving the Canadian Bank of Commerce building, Billy Ellis leaving the court house, Bert Watson walking north on 18th street, R. E. Staples entering the Tegler building, Fred Jennings chatting with a friend at the 161 street and Jasper avenue intersection, Len Lorton walking west on Jasper avenue.

Man Fined $200
Acting as an insurance agent without first acquiring a license brought a fine of $200 and costs to Gustaf Kriebel, Edmonton, when he appeared before Magistrate A. J. Miller, K.C., in city police court Friday morning.

HARRIS TWEED
Gift of Nature and Inheritance

Woven by hand from Virgin Scottish Wool, Harris Tweed has qualities which no other part of the world can duplicate. The Islanders of the Outer Hebrides bring the traditional savoir-faire of their ancestors to the creation of this unique fabric, and it is this that keeps the tweed-making industry alive in the face of modern competition.

Look for the Mark on the garment.

George C. McNairn Is Dead in City

MR. MCNAIRN

George Chalmers McNairn, son of Mrs. W. W. McNairn of Ottawa, and the late Rev. Dr. McNairn, died in Edmonton Friday. He was 32 years old.

He is survived by his wife, the former Renee McLeod, granddaughter of the late Dr. John R. McLeod, Feenish, who was party whip in the first Alberta Legislature, one son, William Wallace, his mother, one brother, W. Kelvin, Kingston, Ont., and two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Wilkinson, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, and Mrs. J. W. McKay, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Howard and McBride.

Auto Gets Worst Of Street Crash

A horse ran into a car about 7:45 a.m. Friday and caused considerable damage to the automobile. The driver, Hughson, 8654 75 street, driver for McGavin's Bakery said he was driving his wagon east on the avenue when the horse bolted at a passing auto causing one of the shafts to go through the window of the rear door.

Hughson said he jumped out of the wagon and the horse ran away. Last week Hughson's wagon was damaged by a car at the intersection of 104 avenue and 126 street.

The motor vehicle was operated by Clifford Wilson, 9153 156 street. The rear door window shattered and the shaft suffered damage on the side.

TALE OF A TAIL

GINKY was never happier than when he had been locked up in the Teenie Weenie jail. There the lazy mouse could sleep day and night, and as long as he was locked up, the Teenie Weenies had to feed him. He had been handled rather roughly when he tried to steal a frog ham out of the Teenie Weenie smokehouse. Gogo, who had caught the thieving mouse, had given him a sound thrashing. When Ginky had awakened the next morning in the fruit jar which the Teenie Weenies use for a jail, he complained of pains in his tail.

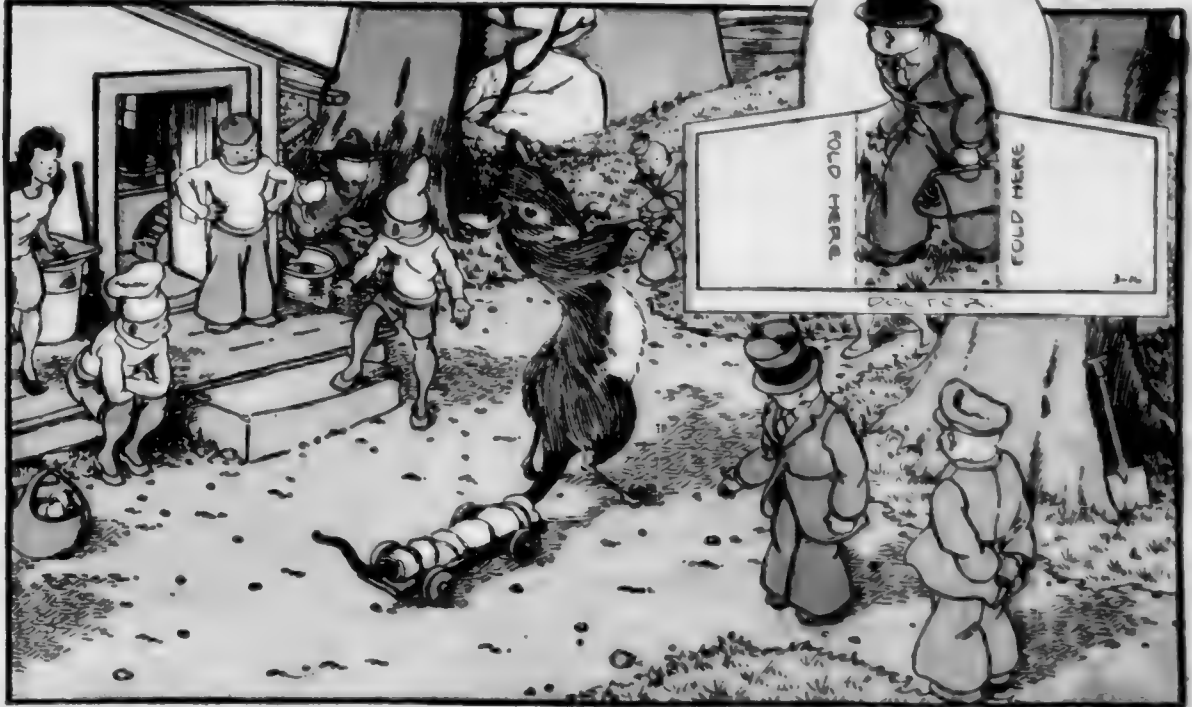

The Teenie Weenie Doctor visited the jail with his tiny medicine case and he found, on examination, that the mouse had several fractured bones in his tail. The Doctor set the bones and encased the injured tail in a cast.

"He'll have to be quiet for a couple of weeks," the Doctor said, "and he must be given better food than the regular prison ration, too."

That suited Ginky because, being fond of good food, he didn't like the regular Teenie Weenie daily prison ration of two grains of dried corn. Even though Ginky had been extremely troublesome to the Teenie Weenies, the little folk felt sorry for the injured mouse and they supplied him with a nice soft bed and three full meals every day. The Teenie Weenie Cook baked lima beans for Ginky, gave him baked raisins stuffed with butternut meats and often sent an acorn shell basket of fried doughnuts over to the jail.

The TEENIE WEEENIES

BY GUY DONAHUE

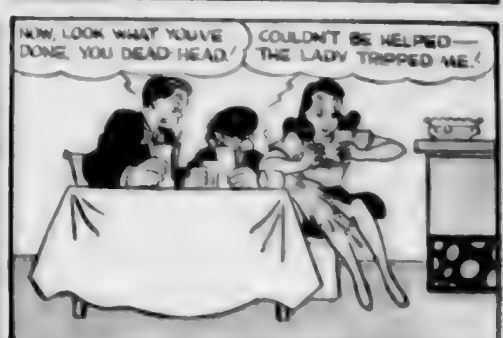

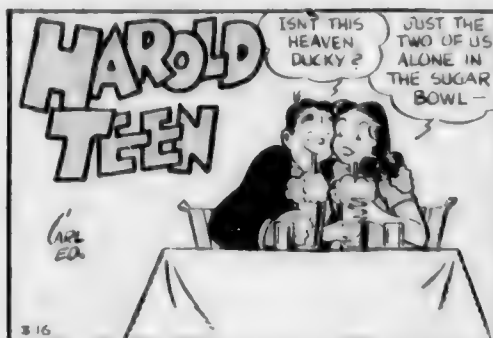

Ginky was delighted with his prison life and he confided to the Policeman that he would recommend the Teenie Weenie jail to all his mouse friends. However, even with all the good food, and in spite of the easy life he was living, Ginky grew restless and asked to be let out of jail. The Doctor agreed that a little exercise might be helpful, so the mouse was let out for walks occasionally.

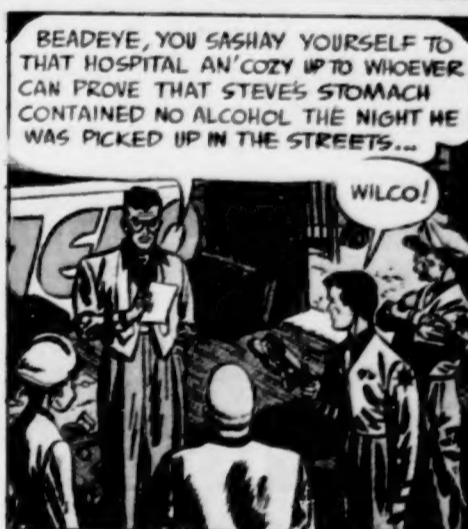

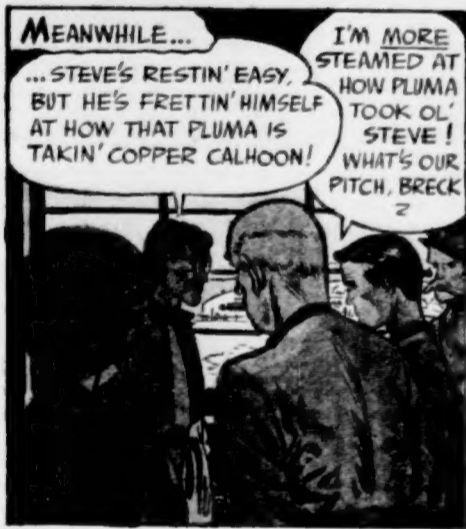

Walking around wasn't as pleasant as Ginky had expected, for it was rather difficult to get about with the heavy cast on his tail dragging along behind him. Finally, Gogo had a bright idea. By sawing off pieces from a lead pencil, punching out the lead and using the pieces of pencil for wheels, he built a little trailer for Ginky's tail. The cast was lashed to the trailer and Ginky was able to walk with ease.

Ginky was soon well enough to be sent away, but the mouse was quite contented with his easy life. Not until the little people threatened to call in Tompkins, the cat, were they able to rid themselves of Ginky.
